

Micrel

3/12/11

To our Worldwide Distributors and Customers,

While the Earthquake in Japan was very devastating to the Northeastern region of that country, as of today Micrel Semiconductor is not concerned about any supply chain issues that will occur and impact delivery of product to our Distributors and Customers.

We will send out further updates should it become necessary but for now we see no concerns. Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any further questions or concerns.

Best regards,

Kimberly Harmon
